Group of 800,000 Jobless Makes Request of President Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(UP)—The political campaign swung into full stride today a week of intense activity spread from coast to coast. There is to be no let-up until election day, 10 weeks hence.

Both presidential candidates are in motion. Three states—south Carolina, California and Mississippi—hold primaries of nationwide interest. Election campaigns in other states have begun.

President Roosevelt, Democrat, and Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican, rivals for the presidency, invade each other's territory tomorrow. Frank Knox, Republican vice-presidential nominee, is in New England.

While Gov. Landon goes into New York for a speech at Chautauqua tonight, President Roosevelt returns to Washington today before setting out tomorrow on a middle-western drought-inspection tour.

Non-Political Trip

Although Mr. Roosevelt has said his trip will be "non-political," great interest is attached to a meeting with Gov. Landon at a conference with governors of drought states Sept. 1 in Des Moines. Gov. Landon said he would attend as "governor of Kansas."

Despite Mr. Roosevelt's desire to stick rather close to Washington because of the troubled international situation, his campaign advisers are urging him to make an active speaking campaign. He is expected to make a "whirlwind finish" starting sometime in September.

Democrats will watch the California primary for substantiation of their claims of superior numerical strength on the West coast. Sen. Joseph F. Guffey, D., Pa., chairman of the Democratic senatorial campaign committee, predicted a "smashing victory" in November.

Interest in the North Carolina and Mississippi primaries centers in senatorial races. Two administration stalwarts are involved in hot contests. Results may give

MERCURY HITS THIRD RECORD IN THREE DAYS

For the third consecutive day Circleville residents sweltered under record-breaking temperatures. The temperature Saturday reached 101 degrees, Sunday it climbed to 98. Monday noon the mercury rested at 98 and was expected to pass well over the century mark during the afternoon.

The readings surpass all previous local heat records for Aug. 22, 23 and 24.

Circleville gained some relief Sunday night from thundershowers in Franklin county. Cool breezes fanned the city about 9 p. m. The rainfall here Sunday night amounted to only .08 of an inch.

Scattered showers were forecast at noon by the Ohio weather bureau. Relief appeared in sight for Tuesday, the forecast being "somewhat cooler."

Heavy rains accompanied by high winds drenched sections of Pickaway county Saturday, but failed to reach Circleville. Residents living northwest, west and south of the city reported good rains.

Ten poles of the Citizens Telephone Co., were blown down on the Darbyville road west of Fox, two on Route 103, three on the Goose Pond pike and three on the Walnut creek pike.

No serious damage was reported to crops.

LOCAL VETERANS IN PORTSMOUTH FOR CONVENTION

Many Circleville Legionnaires, accompanied by the drum corps, were in Portsmouth Monday attending the 15th annual state convention. Sessions opened Sunday and continue through Tuesday.

A steady stream of cars bearing Legionnaires from all points of Ohio passed through Circleville Sunday over Route 23. Several drum corps, passing through on trucks, serenaded local residents.

The program for Monday included reports of major committees, presentation of awards and a colorful parade. Tuesday has been set aside for the election of 1937 officers, presentation of awards to prize-winning drum corps, bands and drill teams.

The Circleville drum corps was not entered in the state contest. Circleville's delegates to the convention are Fred Draughnauer and James Shea. Alternates are James Cook and A. J. Ford.

AUTO DRIVERS' LICENSES GO ON SALE SEPT. 1

Applications and License Forms Expected Soon From Columbus

REQUIREMENTS LISTED

State Bureau Provides Book Containing Digest Of New State Law

Auto drivers' licenses will be placed on sale in Pickaway county shortly after Sept. 1, in the office of George E. Hammel, local registrar.

Necessary applications and license forms will be shipped to county registrars soon, Harold E. Culbert, Columbus, assistant registrar of motor vehicles in charge of drivers' licenses, announced Monday.

The state bureau is taking every precaution that Ohio motorists will be familiar with all phases of the new law before it becomes operative, Oct. 1.

The state highway patrol has been thoroughly grounded in requirements of the new law. As a further aid special booklets containing a digest of the license law have been printed and are being circulated throughout the state.

Licenses will be issued through channels set up to issue license tags in each county.

Persons who are not eligible to be licensed either because of age or inexperience will be given beginners' licenses, effective for a 90-day period. At any time after the first 30 days, state highway patrolmen may examine the applicant to determine ability to drive.

Persons who live in Ohio, but whose business will take them out of the state during the licensing period, may obtain licenses through central motor vehicle bureau headquarters in Columbus. Nearly 3,000,000 motorists, both professional and average motorists, will be licensed under the law.

POLICE RECOVER PURSE BEFORE LOSS IS KNOWN

Pat Lincham, Washington C. H. salesman, had two unexpected surprises in Circleville Saturday evening. The first was when he discovered he had lost a bill fold in a W. Main street restaurant. It contained $70. He called police headquarters. Officers told him Paul Smith, S. Court street, had found the bill fold and had left it at the police department.

Mine Gives Up Captives, Two of Four Alive

THE body of Edward Stoner, Jr., one of the four miners trapped in the old Esby mine near Moberly, Mo., is removed by rescuers who reached the victims after three days' imprisonment. Mrs. Stoner, who hoped against hope her husband would be found alive, is seen, inset, weeping at the news. Two of the four men were taken out of the mine alive, Stoner and George T. Dameron, a Negro, of white camp shortly after they were imprisoned by a fire and cave-in.

16 CONDEMNED REDS AWAITING CALL TO DEATH

MOSCOW, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Sixteen communist leaders including two of world renown awaited hopelessly in their cells today the brief hours that must elapse before they face a firing squad as traitors. They were convicted of complicity in a terrorist plot to kill government officials.

In the early hours of this morning, V. V. Ulrich, presiding judge at the melodramatic trial, light from the chandeliers of the one time Nobles Club shining on his bald head, doomed the defendants by saying into the microphones: "On the basis of the accusations I have cited, the military tribunal of the supreme court of the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics sentences (naming one by one the defendants) to the highest measure of the social defense—shooting."

It was 2:55 a. m. when Ulrich finished. Seventy-two hours must elapse before the sentences are carried out. The defendants may appeal; but no appeal was expected. All were downcast by a realization of guilt and confessed it in speeches.

It was expected that the next announcement would be the usual brief communique saying that the sentences had been executed. They will take from Soviet Russia Gregory Zinoviev, former secretary general of the communists international, and Leo Kamenov, diplomatist, both of the little group that made Russia communist.

U. S. SPENDING TOO MUCH CASH

So Think Some Folk Who Form Secret Society Aiming at Reduced Expenditures

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A new secret society, known as the Legion of American Taxpayers, today announced secretly that it thinks the government is spending too doggone much money on congressmen and generals and suchlike.

Lop the salaries of senators in half, fire half the generals and enact other economies and the Legionnaires figure they'll have more money left to pay their own bills.

The only trouble with the Legion is that it's entirely too secret. Even if you wanted to join, we couldn't tell you where to apply, or what kind of mask to buy, if any.

We were sitting in our office, just sitting there trying to look busy, when we saw through the ground glass door a ghostly figure stoop and push slowly through the crack below a mysterious white envelope.

EXTRADITION OF EFFINGER ASKED BY MICHIGAN

DETROIT, Aug. 24.—(UP)—The one-man grand jury investigating the terroristic activities of the Black Legion promised additional indictments today while police sought extradition from Ohio of the man reputed to be the national commander of the hooded and robed night-riding order.

With 13 of 22 Black Legion members indicted for criminal syndicalism in jail cells, the attorney-general's office centered its activities at Columbus, O., where extradition papers for Virgil H. (Bert) Effinger were to be presented to Gov. Martin L. Davey.

Effinger, allegedly "commander-in-chief" of the vigilante organization, was named in affidavits as the man who plotted insurrection against the government while in Detroit. He was charged, in sworn statements by Dayton Dean, "triggerman" of the Black Legion, with urging the seizure by force of government buildings and arsenals on Sept. 16.

MAURICE REICHE DIES FOLLOWING LONG ILLNESS

Maurice F. Reiche, 78, dealer in agricultural supplies in Circleville since 1883, died Sunday at 1:45 a. m., at his home 162½ W. Main street, of complications. Mr. Reiche had been in ill health for several years.

He was born at Waverly, O., on Sept. 30, 1856, the son of Maurice F. and Mary Elizabeth Theobald Reiche. His parents were from Germany. At the age of 15 he moved to Columbus. There he studied mechanical drawing and learned the trade of machinist. He was associated with the Columbus machine Co., for 15 years as a draughtsman.

In 1878 Mr. Reiche was married to Margaret D. Wardell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Wardell, Circleville. Mr. Reiche came to Circleville in August, 1883, to take charge of the business operated by his father-in-law.

Mrs. Reiche died Dec. 7, 1934 of injuries suffered in a fall at her home. Their only child, Ethel, died July 12, 1929.

Mr. Reiche is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Matilda Bayer and Mrs. Ellen Sohn, both of Columbus; two nephews, Cletus Smith of Columbus and H. C. Sohn of Xenia, and two nieces, Mrs. J. Earl Ogle, Jr., and Miss Marie Crist, both of Johnstown Pa.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday at 10:30 a. m. in the Albaugh chapel with Rev. E. S. Toensmeier officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery.

Palibearers will be Harry Groce, D. C. Rader, Fred Wittich, Meeker Terwilliger, John C. Stevenson and O. S. Howard.

JESSE OWENS RETURNS HOME FROM OLYMPICS

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Jesse Owens returned today aboard the record-breaking liner Queen Mary from one of the greatest Olympic triumphs ever achieved by an American athlete.

The Negro athlete, wearing a gray, double-breasted pin-striped suit, white shirt and gray tie, was found wandering around the liner's tourist quarters near his cabin when reporters and members of Gov. Martin L. Davey's Ohio reception committee boarded the vessel at quarantine.

He was taken to a cabin class writing room where he was presented with a stop watch valued at $500 and a scroll from the people of Cleveland, dedicated to his Olympic feats.

GERMANY BANS SHIPMENTS OF ARMS TO SPAIN

Powers Seem Well On Way To An Understanding To Avoid Strife

LONDON GIVES WARNING

Madrid Declares Searching of British Vessels Must Stop At Once

BY UNITED PRESS

Spain's civil war continued today with the unrestrained savagery which has shocked the world, and there were no signs of anything but a long-drawn struggle, which, if it continues into the winter, will result in the loss of countless thousands of lives and a complete destruction of property.

It is war to the death without side, inflamed by hate, determined never to give in. On the one hand are the rebels, composed of the conservative element, monarchists, clergy and army. On the other is the liberal and radical government, supported by the workers, socialists, communists and anarchists.

The rebels want a reactionary fascist government; the liberals a left-wing, socialistic coalition of all liberal elements. No compromise seems possible.

A weighing of the conflicting claims of the two sides, balanced by more authentic reports smuggled through the censorship by border and other correspondents, indicated almost a stalemate today, the sixth week of the war.

Apparent gains by the rebels in the south and west, preparatory to an attempt to smash through to Madrid, were balanced by loyalist strength in the north, where they are holding the Guadarrama passes north of the capital and making a strong showing in the Bay of Biscay region.

The international situation had brightened perceptibly and the powers seemed well on their way to an understanding to keep out of it and not let the Spanish situation involve Europe in a war.

Germany announced she is applying an embargo to the export of arms to Spain, understanding that the other powers are doing the same thing. Britain warned Spain sternly against searching her ships on the high seas, but otherwise showed the keenest anxiety to keep from becoming involved.

BLANTON LOSES CONGRESS POST TO TEXAS JUDGE

DALLAS, Tex., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Rep. Thomas Blanton, quick-tempered veteran of congress, lost his race for re-nomination to the Texas district post he has held many years, it was shown today in returns from Saturday's Democratic runoff primary.

Blanton was defeated for nomination, tantamount to election, by Clyde Garrett, a county judge who once was a section hand. Garrett in his campaign made a firm stand for budget-balancing.

With eight counties of the district's twelve complete returns gave Blanton 16,938 and Garrett 31,202. Rep. W. D. McFarlen of Wichita Falls apparently won re-nomination by a narrow margin. He was in the runoff primary against Edward Gossett.

REPUBLICANS TO OPEN QUARTERS IN CITY SEPT. 1

Pickaway county Republicans plan to open their headquarters in the Crist building, N. Court street, Sept. 1.

John E. Walters, chairman of the central committee, announced the opening date. He said he has been named to take charge of the headquarters.

500 GATHER FOR RELIGIOUS MEET IN CITY

Five Pastors Ordained At Sunday Service Of Mount Of Praise

$8,000 FOR MISSIONS

Campgrounds Filled To Limit As Visitors Swarm To Annual Session

More than 12,000 persons were present Sunday for the opening of the regular camp meeting program at the Mount of Praise, E. Ohio street, conducted by the Churches of Christ in Christian Union of Ohio.

All available rooms on the grounds were filled Saturday night. Extra cots were placed in dormitories to take care of visitors. Many slept in cars, in the open and on tabernacle benches.

Officials reported every available room in private homes within four blocks of the grounds had been rented. They sent visitors to tourist homes in every part of the city.

Six hundred automobiles were parked on the grounds before noon Sunday. A nearby field was opened for parking. Cars were lined on Ohio street from Clinton to approximately one-half mile east of the grounds.

The Sunday program opened at 6:30 a. m. with a service in charge of the Rev. Charles Slater, evangelist of Pasadena, Cal. Five pastors were ordained at services held at 7:30 a. m. They were: J. B. Myers, Miss Sarah Rooker, and E. R. Muncie, all of Columbus, O. E. Leonard of Bentonville, and David Schneider of Chicago.

The Rev. T. M. Anderson of Wilmore, Ky., preached at the morning service, the Rev. Mr. Slater the afternoon service, and the Rev. Bona Fleming of Ashland, Ky., the evening service. Rev. Edna Leonard of Oak Hill, led the children's program, and the Rev. Maurice Finger of North Carolina, conducted the young people's meetings.

Sessions of the church council ended Saturday. Reports showed approximately $8,000 has been raised by churches of the district for missionary work. One new missionary, the Rev. O. E. Leonard will go to Africa this fall.

The camp meeting program continues until the night of Aug. 30. Officials expect about 5,000 persons on the grounds daily this week.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

By all odds the most tuneful, most amusing and most unique of the films to feature Bing Crosby by Paramount's new rollicking musical, "Rhythm on the Range," which opened yesterday at the Cliftona theatre, provides a balanced program of song, comedy and romance unmatched by any recent screen offerings.

Introducing Bob Burns, drawing Arkansas maestro of the gasp-bazooka, for his important movie role, "Rhythm on the Range" casts Frances Farmer opposite Crosby and surrounds the trio with a score of the best talent in films.

Plot Is Unusual

A brief outline of the story serves to indicate the general comedy slant of the fast-moving musical romance.

Crosby and Burns are cowboys who take part in a Madison Square Garden rodeo in New York. Crosby, with his rodeo winnings, buys a prize bull and starts with the animal for his home ranch in Arizona, aboard a box car Burns, always accompanied by his bazooka, heads for the same location aboard a passenger train.

Frances Farmer, wealthy society girl, flees a scheduled marriage and stows away aboard Crosby's box car, hoping to reach the ranch operated by her aunt, Lucille Webster Gleason, who is Crosby's employer.

DELEGATES ARE SELECTED FOR M. E. CONFERENCE

Members of the Methodist church Sunday elected H. W. Plum and H. B. Colwell as delegate and alternate, respectively, to the annual conference opening in Toledo on Sept. 9. It continues five days.

For the first time in its history, the conference may this year elect district superintendents for an additional two years after they have served a six-year term, heretofore the time limit for such an office.

The new regulation applies to Dr. Robert O. McClure, Columbus, superintendent of the Chillicothe district, including Circleville. Pastors asked the return of Dr. McClure at the district conference held in the local church in April.

Legislation extending the terms was passed at the general conference held in Columbus last May.

Remember When?

Chamber of Commerce was organized.

It was organized at a meeting held on June 23, 1916. Officers were, president, J. D. Hummel; vice president, F. A. Marion; treasurer, C. G. Shultz; director of organization, T. O. Gilliland; director of business affairs, W. E. Crist; director of civic affairs, J. C. Goeller; director of agricultural affairs, H. M. Crites; and directors at large, S. B. Orr, Ed Sensenbrenner and Col. C. E. Groce.

TWO MOTORISTS INJURED WHEN AUTOS COLLIDE

Melvin Kiger, Circleville, Route 1, employee at the Second National bank, suffered a broken tooth, cuts and bruises Sunday evening in an automobile collision at the intersection of Ohio street and the Kingston pike.

Kiger was headed south on the Kingston pike. The other car was driven by Mrs. Charles Starkey, South Bloomingville, Route 1. She was turning north on the Kingston pike from Ohio street. The Kiger car overturned and the automobile of Mrs. Starkey went into a ditch. Mrs. Starkey escaped with minor cuts on the face. She had been attending services at the Mount of Praise camp grounds.

Orrin Stout, E. High street, brought Kiger to the office of Dr. E. R. Austin for treatment.

MOUNT OF PRAISE CAMPERS ENJOY FOOD IN PLENTY

Visitors at the Mount of Praise, E. Ohio street, not only received religious stimulation Sunday, but they absorbed many groceries on the side. Figures were reported Sunday evening by the Rev. O. L. Ferguson, camp superintendent, as he checked the restaurant accounts.

More than 1,000 pounds of meat were used for meals Saturday evening and Sunday. To this was added 100 pounds of fish. Other items used Sunday were: 2,000 one-half pint bottles of milk and orangeade, 200 dozen buns, 10 dozen loaves of bread, 5 bushel of Irish potatoes and two bushel of sweet potatoes for each meal, 5 bushel of tomatoes, 35 gallon of bulk ice cream and 250 dozen bars, and 81 gallons of vegetable soup. Restaurant workers reported they fried 85 pounds of sausage for breakfast, ran out and had to add a side of bacon. Seven dozen eggs were used for noodles.

The Rev. Mr. Ferguson estimated 5,000 persons were in the restaurant Sunday. Meals are served in the dining room at 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. The restaurant is open at all hours during the day.

Fifty persons assisted in preparing and serving the meals Sunday.

The oven or hot water bath method is preferable for processing fruits and tomatoes when canning season keeps homemakers busy. The color and flavor are better when the cold pack method is employed.

Peaches

Select ripe, firm peaches. Blanch and cold dip for one minute and remove skins and pits. Pack halved or sliced into clean, sterile jars. Fill to within one and one-half inches of the top with a syrup made of three parts sugar to two parts water. Put on cap, tighten and process in the oven at 275 degrees for 35 minutes for pint jars and 45 minutes for quarts. The oven should be preheated to 300 degrees before placing cans in it and the control reset as the oven is loaded. The capacity of standard sized ovens is 9 quarts at one time.

While the peaches are processing, it is possible to can tomatoes. The length of time required is approximately the same, 40 to 50 minutes being sufficient.

Tomatoes

Wash the tomatoes and immerse them in boiling water 1 to 2 minutes, or until skins will slip off easily. Plunge into cold water for a few seconds and remove skins. Pack whole for a most attractive can, adding 1 tsp. salt to the quart. Cover with boiling water to within one inch of the top. Adjust lids and process in the oven.

If corn-on-the-cob is a favorite with your family, can a few ears whole for serving at holiday time in midwinter.

Corn-On-The-Cob

Clean the corn and scald in boiling water for about five minutes. Select small ears of Golden Bantam variety corn. Each ear should be about the length of a quart jar. Pack five small ears in a quart jar. Add 1 tsp. salt. Pour boiling water over them to a depth of only 1 inch and process in the oven at 250 degrees for 3 hours. What a delight to be able to serve corn-on-the-cob long after it is out of season.

GINGER-ALE SALAD

2 tablespoons of gelatine.
2 tablespoons of cold water.
2-3 cup hot water.
1/4 cup sugar.
1 bottle, or about 12 oz. gingerale (about 2 cupsful).
2-3 cup pineapple juice.
2 cups of lemon juice.
2 cups diced pineapple.
2 cups diced apples.
2 cups diced celery.
1/4 teaspoon salt.

Soak the gelatine in the cold water for five minutes. Add the hot water and stir until dissolved. Add the sugar, ginger ale and fruit juices, then add the diced fruit, celery and salt. Pour into a wet mold or individual molds to chill. Serve on lettuce with salad dressing.

Salad Dressing

4 egg yolks.
1/4 cup of vinegar.
2 tablespoons sugar.
1/4 teaspoon mustard.
24 marshmallows.
1 cup broken nut meats.
1 pint whipping cream.

Beat the egg yolks and the vinegar, add the sugar and mustard blended together. Cook over hot water until thick, stirring constantly. Cool, then add the marshmallows, cut into bits, the nut meats and the cream, whipped until stiff. Mix and use at once. Serves 12 to 16.

FRICASSEED CHICKEN

1 chicken, cut for fricassee.
1 egg, beaten with 2 tablespoons water.
1 1/2 cups dry bread crumbs.
3 tablespoons butter.
1 onion, sliced.
1 cup canned tomatoes.
2 cups water.
Salt and pepper.

Dip chicken in beaten egg and then in seasoned crumbs. Place in deep sauce pan with butter and saute on both sides until brown. Add onion, tomatoes and water. Cover and cook slowly until chicken is tender. Add more water if necessary. This is a very delicious way to prepare your chicken.

ALNUT PEACH SHORT-CAKE

1 1/2 cups sweetened sliced peaches.
1/2 cup of broken walnut kernels.
2 8-inch layers of sponge cake.
Whipped cream.
Walnut halves.

Combine sliced peaches and walnut kernels and arrange between and on top of sponge cake layers. Garnish with whipped cream and walnut halves. Serves 6.

Should iced tea be covered in the refrigerator?

Quantities of any beverage should be stored in covered containers when an automatic refrigerator is used. The lost moisture from the beverage collects on the chilling unit and promotes the necessity for more frequent defrosting.

Can soup that has been made a day or two previous, be diluted with water?

If the soup is still in good condition and of a thick consistency it may be diluted with a small amount of water without affecting the flavor. If the soup has lost some of its flavor, it can be improved by adding a dissolved bouillon cube or by using tomato juice in place of water.

Chicken Custard

1 C. diced cooked chicken
1/2 C. mushrooms
1 Tbsp. butter
3 eggs
2 C. milk
Salt and pepper

Beat eggs slightly. Add all other ingredients and bake in a pan of water at a temperature of 325 degrees for 20 to 45 minutes.

Spinach or Corn Custard

2 eggs, slightly beaten
1 C. strained spinach or corn cut off the cob
1 Tbsp. melted butter
1/2 C. milk
1/4 tsp. dry mustard
1/2 tsp. salt

Combine all ingredients and bake in custard cups set in a pan of hot water.

AFTER THE REVOLUTION?

NOT since the extinction of the Romanoffs has so sanguinary a tale come out of any land as that which is filtering from Spain through one means or another during these days of fire and blood while two schools of political thought are working out the destinies of a nation.

Four weeks have passed since the turmoil and the strife began. Fascists are a collection of radical thinkers who may be classified generally as Leftists at each other's throats. This is a literal statement of a truth, for seldom has such ferocity and utter inhumanity distinguished warfare.

Women and even children are participants in the orgy. Prisoners are being mowed down by the fire of machine guns with as cold deliberation as if the process involved nothing more vital than the sweep of a scythe through wheat. Bodies are burned as refuse.

Out of this welter what can come in the nature of sound, liberal, equitable government? One possibility is a Fascist rule—hard, stern, inexorable. Another is a government after the example of Moscow; or, more accurately, that for which Danton, Marat and Robespierre sowed the seed.

In either case, the liberal republic of 1931, which for a brief while held high hopes of a more enlightened rule in Spain, must perish. And the signs are that the transition from the present to an unpredictable future will involve a long and bloody ordeal.

SWING YOUR PARTNER

IT'S the accentuated drum rather than the syncopated which gives the "swing" to "swing music." In turn, this particular style is described as any music in four-four time, preferably popular music. Thus at last we have a definition which has the approval of the Dancing Masters of America, Inc.

The nation has become "swing music" and "swing dance" conscious, it appears. There doesn't seem to be any great mystery about the dance. One takes two slow steps as in the fox-trot, the man swings the right leg from the hip, his partner likewise swings the left (this obviously being to avoid unpremeditated assault as well as to add to the aesthetics of the dance), and then two slow steps are taken, followed by two "cut" steps and then swing.

All of which seems simple enough. Certainly it's not too difficult of attainment for the real devotees of the art terpsichorean. Obviously an orchestra is a prime necessity, or at least a drum. This may appear to complicate the practice of the

LONDON KNOWS HE FACES JOB

ENROUTE WITH GOVERNOR LANDON—There are a lot of things you can't help liking about Alf Landon, and one of them is his unassuming modesty.

Back to Topeka, a handful of newspapermen were invited to the Jayhawker Hotel to have dinner with Roy Roberts, managing editor of The Kansas City Star and leading member of the Landon Brain Trust.

When the dinner was about over, Governor Landon dropped in, just as casually as if he were one of the family. The talk drifted around to the campaign and the problems the Republican Party had to overcome to defeat Roosevelt.

Almost every newspaperman present had his ideas and did not hesitate to express them. Finally the Governor came out with this remark:

"You forget one problem we have got to overcome, which may be the biggest of all. I've got to convince the American people that I'm capable of running this country."

And then with a half humorous smile, he added—"If I am."

ANOTHER ROOSEVELT

If Landon were just let alone, to go his own sweet way, and allowed to put across to the American people the same modest unassuming sincerity he shows to the newspapermen, he would probably put on a unique and bang-up campaign.

But it doesn't look as if they would let him. And you can't help wondering whether, if Landon is pushed and pulled around now, he might not find himself in exactly the same position when and if he lands in the White House.

If left to his own devices, there is no doubt that Governor Landon would display a political creed close to President Roosevelt's. The two men are not at all far apart in their basic economic and social beliefs.

The chief difference probably is that Roosevelt is more aggressive in asserting those beliefs, has put himself well out in front of his party—in fact, so far out in front that he has lost the support of one section.

And if the Roosevelt-haters and GOP bosses now rooting for Landon ever took the trouble to get really close to him, they would discover, much to their horror, that Roosevelt and Landon probably could sit down together at their coming drought conference and not only get to like each other, but also find they have infinitely more in common than they have with the GOP and Democratic bosses around them.

Only question-mark is whether Landon is going to be able to get away from his chaperons.

"wing" as a some pastime. So what! One of the best things about swing dancing, to many, is that it isn't compulsory. And in desperate protest against cacophony you can, of course, turn your radio off.

READ THIS FIRST:

Gay Elwell, check girl in a prominent Detroit club, meets a number of social elite when she fills in at a dinner party at the request of Doctor Wilson, a club member. One is Brock Carter who is very friendly toward Gay; another, Wayne Adams who is both interested and annoyed by her; and finally, Tim Keenan and Christian Scott, both millionaires. Just as Wayne makes it evident he is beginning to care for Gay, he tells her he plans to return to New York shortly. Tim Keenan, who is pretending a deep interest in Gay to arouse the jealousy of his fiancée, Eleanor Randolph, and hasten her return from Europe, announces his plans for a house party. Reluctantly Gay allows Tim to take her home from Wayne's party instead of returning with Wayne who had brought her. At Tim's house party Gay finds Wayne annoyingly indifferent. Gay overhears a conversation between Tim and one of the women at the party discussing her affairs with Tim. Gay realizes that Tim Wilson from the swimming pool where she has been overcome. On the way to meet Tim she comes upon Wayne at the piano.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

CHAPTER 30

IMPULSIVELY, breath held. Gay slipped into the nearest chair as Wayne played the piano. She would go before Wayne noticed her. But for a moment at least, she wanted to listen. Gay loved music, deeply and though her appreciation was untaught, it was none the less keen.

Fascinated, she watched his hands. Long fingers, sensitive and powerful. Gifted hands, able to design the intricate mechanism of a motor; able to bring music, fragile as star-dust, from the keyboard of a piano.

Something told her that Wayne knew she was there, listening. But the music held her spellbound. She couldn't go. She didn't want to go. In the back of her mind, Gay realized she was showing a lamentable lack of pride. To all appearances she was seeking him out, when he, with pointed indifference, had avoided her since their brief encounter this morning.

She didn't care, at this precise moment, what Wayne thought of her. Nothing mattered except the music that filled the room.

He played on for a time, apparently absorbed in his own performance, as he had been from Chopin to Ravel, and from Ravel to the sophisticated modernism of George Gershwin. Then he brought his hands down in a series of descending chords, and rose quietly to his feet.

"I hope you enjoyed the concert. There's no charge on Tuesdays or Saturdays."

His flippant, unfriendly speech disconcerted Gay, who also had come to her. "I did enjoy your playing, very much," she answered, with disarming sweetness.

"I'm sorry if I disturbed you." "You didn't. I was playing for my own amusement, and to pass the time till cocktails are served." He caught her hand as she moved toward the door. "Wait a minute. I'd like to talk to you."

"I must go," Gay insisted, even while she settled back in the chair. "I'm supposed to meet Tim."

"Let him wait. I said I wanted to talk to you."

Inwardly, Gay was hating herself for the singing ecstasy she felt at his physical nearness, but she managed to affect a profound interest in the smoke rings from Wayne's cigaret, watching them while they dissolved slowly in the still air.

"Last Saturday night," Wayne began sharply. "Why did you lead me to think—What's the point of it all? What sort of game do you think you're playing, anyway?"

For a wild moment, the truth trembled on her lips. Why not tell Wayne the whole story about her arrangement with Tim to awaken Eleanor's jealousy? He'd understood, then, why she had chosen Tim, instead of herself, to drive her home from the penthouse party.

But she had agreed wholeheartedly to Tim's proposition. She must go through with it, even if Wayne became her open enemy. Open enmity, she told herself, would be easier to bear than his variable moods: now tenderness and passion, now edged sarcasm or a cold reserve that shut her completely out of his world!

No, she couldn't tell! Later, when Tim and Eleanor were safely married, Wayne would learn the real truth.

"What's your game, Gay?" he repeated.

She met his searching gaze with wide eyes of innocence. "Game? I'm not the athletic type. I'm a frightfully poor sport at games."

"You're not funny," he told her. "I'm giving you a chance to explain yourself, and it's fairly plain you don't want it. That's quite all right. I liked you a lot, but you can't pull this tricky stuff. It may intrigue some men. It doesn't me."

Gay's laugh broke in. She had risen to end the conversation. "Really, must go now. Tim will be wondering."

"I'm commencing to understand you, Gay. You're a business girl. Out for a big contract. I wish you luck."

The ugly, intentional sting of his words whipped scarlet into her cheeks. Pride kept her smiling.

"Money is rather nice," she let her gaze wander appreciatively around the black and gold music room. "It would be quite comfortable, living here, for an ex-check girl. I wouldn't ever have to worry about bills any more, or lunch on a soda to save car fare."

"A little pathetic, now?" Wayne interrupted. "Very touching! But I don't imagine you've worried much about bills. Not since you made your contacts at the Wilson dinner?"

Gay was saved the necessity of an answer by the sudden appearance of Tim in the doorway. "So this is where you've been! I said, meet me in my study in 15 minutes. You've kept me waiting more than—"

Wayne stepped forward. "My fault, Tim. Take your grouch out on me. Besides, Miss Elwell is worth waiting for, isn't she?"

Erect, poised, distinctive looking, he gave Tim a friendly nod. Then, with the impersonal half-smile in her direction that he would accord a stranger, Gay thought, Wayne bowed himself from the room.

"Easy manners, that chap. Wears his clothes well, too." Tim stared after him somewhat enviously.

Then he centered his whole attention on Gay. She laughed aloud at his expression as he stood looking at her.

"What a girl! I was beginning to think I was getting old, but the sight of you in that red dress makes me knock off 20 years anyway. . . . What's that rhyme? 'When you're away from the lips you love, make love to the lips you're near!'"

He made no move to touch her, however, and Gay was glad. She wanted Tim's friendship, unspoiled.

So she filled in the slightly awkward pause with the question, "You have something to show me, Tim?"

"That's right. I almost forgot. Exhibit A."

"Up in your study?" "No—I've got it here with me. But there's a story goes with it. He stopped long enough to light a cigar. "It was like this. You know, it was past five o'clock this afternoon before the storm let up enough for us to drive home from the golf course. Then Johnny Wilson came dashing upstairs to tell me about Marian's heart attack, and the way you came to the rescue, like the good little sport you are."

"But that's not my story. Finally, after John was gone, I changed into dry clothes and was mixing myself a drink when Grace hunted me up, for Eleanor's Paris address. She'd written a letter, you understand; said it was very important, and would I send it, air mail, immediately."

"It wasn't sealed, so I read it, and—"

"Tim Keenan!" Gay cried. "You didn't!"

"Sure, I did. Why not?" Gay caught something of the ruthlessness of the man in those calm words.

"I believe Grace wanted me to," Tim went on, "and I'd do anything to oblige a lady." His eyes twinkled as he brought the letter from his pocket. "Read it, youngster, and die laughing!"

"Please, Tim. I couldn't." "A dirty trick, isn't it? Well, it won't hurt your conscience if I tell you the gist of it. The scheme's working like a charm. The way Grace has fallen for our little show is just too bad."

"Right off the bat, in the first paragraph, she tells Eleanor she'd better come home darn quick or she'll lose me, if she hasn't already. Then there are at least three pages describing the scandalous way you and I are carrying on." Tim threw back his head and roared with merriment.

NORTH SHOULD HAVE INQUIRED

SOMETIMES A FAIR make a considerable gain in a duplicate game, by an error of an adversary, as was the case with one pair the other evening, in a 7-table game. My partner, Miss Esther Keech, and I were the lucky pair, playing East and West. The deal is shown below.

♥ 7 5 2
♣ Q 7 4 3 2

Bidding went at our table: West, 1-Heart; East, 3-Hearts, calling for "feature showing"; West, 4-Clubs, merely stating that the Ace of Clubs, also to show the Ace, hoping that I might also have the Ace of spades, with sufficient fit of hands to justify at least a small slam contract; West, 4-Hearts, stating that no more Aces were held. Had East then shown the Ace of spades, by bidding 4-Spades, I would have called 5-Diamonds, and we could have sailed to 6-Hearts, and made that, as one spade trick would have been the possible limit of loss, and that only in case we lost on the single finesse.

Every table except our own made just 5-odd, and that should have been the case at our table, except for a mistaken idea of North that our side held two suits—West having clubs and hearts, while East had diamonds and hearts. It looked to North like an excellent chance to steal two or more tricks in spades, so he led his Ace of that suit, followed by a lower spade. That gave us one trick more than any other East and West pair could make, giving us 6 match points on the hand, while the six remaining pairs playing a similar call had to take only 2½ match points each.

Of course, "feature showing" or "cue bidding," as it sometimes is called, is so well known and so widely used, and has been for the past sixteen years, dating back to auction bridge days, that it is remarkable that a seasoned player failed to realize what was taking place. To make certain, if in doubt, he had only to ask one of us what our bids meant.

The Laws of Contract Bridge, pages 29 and 30, fully provide for such cases. It provides that an unusual convention should be explained to opponents fully. It also provides that any player may inquire the meaning of any convention that is strange to him. If desired, the one using the strange convention may be asked to leave the table, while his partner states his interpretation of the convention's meaning. North should have invoked this rule when in doubt.

How We May Prevent or Relieve Hay Fever

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THIS MAY be a better psychological moment for advocating once more the destruction of ragweed early in the season in order to prevent hay fever, than the time I did it before several weeks ago. Several weeks ago everybody was so comfortable, the necessity of preventing some dim, far-off, imaginary illness is always hazy in the human mind, but now that the old hay fever is cycle destroy the plant for that season, or will other plants replace the destroyed ones and mature in a shorter cycle? I am conducting an experiment on that subject, having destroyed a flourishing patch at the end of July, and will publish the results.

Another correspondent writes: "I can go on you one better. Municipalities in our section have set men to work collecting and burning the weed in September, after the seeds are already matured and sown for next season."

I believe the most practical method of treating hay fever is by an air filter in the window of the bedroom. The bedroom can be made nearly pollen-free without the use of an air filter if it is dismantled and kept closed. Such pollen grains as enter sink to the floor.

"Select a bedroom with as few windows and doors as possible. The room should be thoroughly cleaned, pictures and hangings removed, also rugs, carpets and material not absolutely necessary."

"Walls and ceiling should be cleaned with a damp rag and the floor with an oil mop."

The bed should be covered all day with a sheet which is carefully removed without shaking at night. In the morning, after the bed is made and covered with the sheet, the room is closed and must on no account be entered. At night, when the patient enters, he does so with the greatest care, closing the door carefully and walking about as little as possible so as not to stir up any pollen.

An electric fan cannot be used because it would stir up the settled pollen and fill the air with it, but the room can be cooled with a 25-pound cake of ice in a tub.

Home-made air filters are constructed by using a box to fit the window, two sides partially off, the box fitted with screening filled with close-meshed cotton. An electric fan inside the room sucks the air in. If the screen is the only entrance point for air, only a small amount of pollen will enter and the fan is powerless.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up with a snuffle after spending the night under the blast of a fan for 'twas the only way to woo sleep. And to think that gorgeous frosts and delightful snow are only a matter of weeks away. Wonder how folk managed to get along before the day of modern conveniences, without automobiles to carry them to cooler spots, without refrigerators, electric fans, cooling systems?

A leisurely session with breakfast and the morning paper and then downtown by wagon to find the streets their usual messy Sunday morning selves. What a disgrace they are to a community as up and coming as this. One might easily imagine that every able bodied man in the ville were gainfully employed and that workmen could not be obtained for street cleaning. Would like very much to take the mayor and council members on a tour of inspection any Sunday morning.

Corps after corps of American Legion drummers passing through the city en route to their big state contest, among them being some I knew in the northern part of the state. It hardly seems possible that it has been 20 years since those men marched away to enter the war to end war. And Europe right now on the verge of another one. Well, they come every so often and we civilized folk are too dumb to prevent them. Smart we think we are, yet we organize for mass murder and starve in the midst of plenty. We're ignorant, pitifully so.

Shocked by news of the death of Maurice Reiche, the retired implement dealer, who was well and favorably known to most folk in the county. Heard of the serious illness of George Welfer, the gardener, and held session with Glenn Geib, editor of these prints, who was on his way to the hospital for a minor operation. An unpleasant way to spend a vacation. Met Neil Reichelderfer who told of numerous inquiries regarding applications for loans under the federal home building program, but divulged no names. Did learn, however, that at least four new homes will be started before Fall and that ere snow flies this ville will have experienced the greatest home building boom in its history. Well, we need homes, plenty of them. A hundred would be none too many.

Read with interest that rural economists of the Ohio State University's College of Agriculture have predicted an $80,000,000 corn crop and a $40,000,000 wheat harvest for the state. The figures, based on estimated production, are considerably above the figures for 1935 so it appears that while the drought has injured the farmers in many ways it likewise has been beneficial to them in others. The farmer has the advantage that the world can not get along without bread and meat even in the most discouraging of times, but it can get along without the products of most factories if necessary. Farm products, never have to hunt a market; it always is available and right at hand.

A long hard day, broken by a plunge at the Chateau pool. Almost everyone was there it seemed. An evening ride to stir a breeze and then home and to bed to sleep no better than anyone else.

of Ringgold, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hill and family of Circleville, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Schleich and family and Mrs. Drusilla Schleich and grandchildren, of Williamsport.

Snapshots were taken of various groups, including a fourth generation picture of Mrs. Drusilla Schleich, son, Leonard, grandson, Raymond, and great grandson, Billy Leonard Schleich, who were guests for the day.

Games were played and late in the afternoon a meeting was called by some of the young folk for election of officers. They are, Raymond Hill, president, Chester Hill, vice-president, Mrs. Harold Shaner, secretary and Mrs. Charles Jacobs, treasurer.

It was decided to make the reunion an annual affair, to be held at the home of Leonard Schleich, Williamsport, on the third Sunday in August, each year.

Story Hour

Mrs. F. K. Blair, as chairman of the Story Hour, at Memorial Hall, presented an interesting program for children. The session opened with a grand march by the children. Mrs. Blair used as her story the "Magic Rooster." Mrs. G. D. Phillips followed with the story of "Johnny Appleseed" and presented each youngster with apple seeds for planting.

Musical games and folk dancing entertained the group and the hour was brought to a close with a Japanese story told by Mrs. Tom A. Renick.

Birthday Celebration

An enjoyable time was had Saturday evening by a group from Circleville, at Devil's Back Bone, in Washington township.

The affair was in celebration of the birthday anniversaries of Robert Terhune, Paul Miller and Mrs. Sterling Lamb.

They enjoyed a steak roast, later coming to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Miller for a party and shower.

The honored guests were presented with appropriate birthday gifts.

Invited were Mr. and Mrs. Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Geib,

ANGLING SCHOOL BOY THREATENS NATIONAL LEAGUE PITCHING RECORD

ER SHOTS FAME WITH AND HURLING

Year Old Youth Strikes
Out 15 Browns in Tilt
At Cleveland

GIANTS WIN ONE MORE

Banks Have Half Game
Shaved From Lead—Senators Cop Twin Bill

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A gangling high school boy from Iowa shot across baseball's firmament today with a dramatic, masterful performance that fell just short of an American League record.

Seventeen years old, pitching his first major league game, unknown and unheralded, Bob Feller took the mound for the Cleveland Indians at Cleveland yesterday and started them across until the St. Louis Browns were dizzy. He accomplished 15 of the 27 outs with strike-outs, one short of Rube Waddell's American League record that is so good it has stood since 1903, and two short of Dizzy Dean's National League record, set in 1934. He allowed six hits and one run, in the sixth when the Browns matched doubles. The Indians won with four runs.

In New York, the New York Giants were demonstrating what is needed to make them the No. 1 candidate for the National League pennant. The need is a sound pair of knees attached to the limbs of 27-year old Manager Bill Terry.

Terry Needed
But that would require an operation, which at this stage of the season is impossible. New Yorkers' only hope is that Bill's creaking knees will ease up sufficiently for him to make an occasional appearance in the lineup. This, more than anything else it seems, has inspired the Giants into playing the sensational brand of baseball that has rocketed them from the second division to only a half-game out of first place since July 15.

How badly Terry is needed at the Giant first base never was more clearly demonstrated than yesterday when he played the whole second game against the Boston Bees after good-natured Sambo Leslie had played like a sand-lotter in the first game. The Giants won both games, 3 to 2, and 6 to 1, but it was no fault of Leslie's. He did get one hit, but was caught napping at first. He added all over the infield trying to field a bunt and was charged with an error. His next accomplishment was smacking into a double play.

Terry injected himself into the lineup for the nightcap and put on a performance that should have made the lumbering Leslie ashamed of himself. He took every chance that came his way without a bobbie. He smacked out three hits, one a triple. Driving in one run and scoring one himself.

Double Killing
The double barrel killing ran the Giants current victory streak to 12, the most consecutive games won by a New York National club since 1916 with the late John J. McGraw at the helm. It also was the 19th triumph out of 20 games this month and the 32nd out of 37 since the mid-July spurt began. The Giants being their western invasion in their last 12 series.

The Giants gained a half game as a result of the londer Cardinals win and tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates. The cards came from behind to score five runs in the eighth to win the opener, 7 to 2. A Pittsburgh lead again was overcome in the second, when St. Louis scored one run in each the 7th, 8th and 9th inning to tie the count at 3-3, but darkness overtook the struggle and it will be played off today.

Philadelphia divided a twin bill with the Brooklyn Dodgers, losing the first, 6 to 5, and winning the nightcap, 5 to 3.

In the other American League games the New York Yankees had a half game shaved from their lead, leaving a margin of "only" 1 1/2 games. The Yanks beat the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 3, then took 6 to 2 trimming, while Cleveland went down before the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2.

The Washington Senators coped with both ends of a twin bill from Philadelphia Athletics, 9 to 3, 9 to 6, while the Detroit Tigers went down before the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2.

Montreal, Canada, has had a Stanley cup winners than any city in which hockey has been played since 1917. The six different Montreal teams won it a total of 17 times.

KEENEST EYES OF NATION AIM AT U. S. TITLES

VANDALIA, O., Aug. 24.—(UP)—The keenest eyes of the nation were trained along shotgun barrels today in the 37th annual Grand American trapshooting tournament.

With three days of preliminary shooting concluded and two minor championships—the Vandalia Open and the International Open—decided in yesterday's firing, the amateur and professional marksmen will spend nearly all of this week in shooting up thousands of clay pigeons to decide a dozen championships.

Joe Hiestand, Hillsboro, Ohio, one of the crack amateur shots of the country, paced the field yesterday breaking 19 of 200 targets to win the International title. Rush Raze, Denver professional, was second with 196.

H. C. Jones, Alton, Ill., amateur firing from 24 yards, won the Vandalia open, a handicap event. Jones broke 97 of 100 targets to tie with E. L. Hawkins, Ft. Wayne, Ind., whose handicap called for firing from only 20 yards. In the shot-off, Jones won, bagging 24 of 25, while Hawkins got 22. A field of 156 competed.

Between 350 and 400 sportsmen begin shooting today to decide the championships. The race between state champions, the professional title, the veterans' prize for marksmen 70 years old or over, the husband and wife event and junior and sub-junior titles will be at stake. In addition, the qualifying round of the east-west team championship will be shot.

The tournament ends Friday with the American Handicap, blue ribbon event of the scattergun sport.

Philadelphia divided a twin bill with the Brooklyn Dodgers, losing the first, 6 to 5, and winning the nightcap, 5 to 3.

In the other American League games the New York Yankees had a half game shaved from their lead, leaving a margin of "only" 1 1/2 games. The Yanks beat the Boston Red Sox, 5 to 3, then took 6 to 2 trimming, while Cleveland went down before the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2.

The Washington Senators coped with both ends of a twin bill from Philadelphia Athletics, 9 to 3, 9 to 6, while the Detroit Tigers went down before the Chicago White Sox, 4 to 2.

FINDLAY PICKS KISSELL FOR GRID MENTOR

FINDLAY, Aug. 24.—(UP)—Howard Kissell, an Ohio boy who galloped to gridiron fame at Purdue University, today was named head football coach at Findlay college by President Homer R. Dunathan.

Kissell, who has been athletic director and coach at Painesville high school succeeds Stuart Holcomb. Holcomb resigned recently to accept a coaching post at Muskingum college.

The new Findlay coach was chosen after President Dunathan had considered the applications of 40 candidates.

Kissell had the recommendation of Noble Kiser, Purdue coach. While at Purdue, Kissell won three monograms in football and one each in baseball, basketball and track.

His outstanding play in 1930 won him a place on the All-North team which opposed a team of Southern stars in a post season contest at Dallas.

The Painesville high team coached by Kissell won the Lake Shore league football championship last fall.

TENNIS DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIPS GET UNDER WAY

CHESTNUT HILL, Mass., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Play in the National Doubles tennis championships begins on Longwood's grass courts today with 32 men's and 24 women's teams.

The veterans Wilmer Allison, of Texas, and John Van Ryn, of Philadelphia, 1935 men's champions, faced a field of predominantly youthful challengers topped by the Davis cup pair, Don Budge and Gene Mako, of California. Though beaten by Allison and Van Ryn in last year's final, Don and Gene have since beaten the champions 10 times in 10 meetings and are favored by many. They defeated Frank Parker and Gregory Mangin, New Jerseyites, for the Newport casino doubles title Saturday.

Parker and Mangin team up again in the nationals as seeded third.

Tom Sharkey, one of the most formidable heavyweight fighters of his time, was really small compared to modern heavies. He was only 5 feet 8 1/2 inches tall.

About This And That In Many Sports

New Holland to Act

New Holland will probably settle its coaching problems within the next week, or whenever Superintendent A. D. Blackburn appears for a meeting with the board of education. The resignation of Shadel Saunders left the school in a lurch since practically all hiring is done quite a while before the middle of August.

Many Seeking Job

According to word from New Holland, applications have been received from many cities and countries—There are a lot of persons who were good athletes in school seeking the job, it is said—None of the applicants has been considered, pending Blackburn's arrival.

Many Athletes Gone

Whoever is employed faces a job—The school has lost Everett Landman, its best athlete in recent years, not forgetting Pete Davis; Herb Dennis and Chuck Ater gone, too, from this year's teams, so it will be necessary to start work with Whitey Speakman and Ralph Dennis—There are several with a brother of Josef Louis about ready for a lot of varsity action—New Holland can be depended on to turn out a strong track squad, despite the loss of Landman, Dennis, etc.—For some reason the village just naturally has a bunch of good runners year in and year out.

Others Lose, too

There is one break for New Holland, and that is that practically every other school in the county lost a bunch of good athletes—Ashville's entire team, except Walter Gregg and Winty Walden, who discovered after Henry Steinbrook was declared ineligible, is gone—Pickaway has several fast athletes returning and so has Jackson township.

Crosby to Hear First Program Under Bob Burns From Ocean Liner, Screen Stars

MERLE OBERON TO JOIN OPERA STAR THURSDAY

"Romance of the Wheel" to Be Heard on Perkins' Hour

From a ship in mid-Pacific, Bing Crosby will listen to the Music Hall on Thursday, August 27, and hear a program he lined up before he left on his vacation. Off for Waikiki and the Land of Aloha with Mrs. Crosby, Bing is appointing Bob Burns "Keeper of the Music Hall" during his absence.

For the broadcast over a WEAF NBC network at 9 p. m. (EST) Bing has arranged to have present such famous guest personalities as Mary McCormick, internationally known opera star; Merle Oberon, of the screen; Ella Logan, the blues singer with a Scotch accent; the Radio Rogues, vocal and instrumental group; and others to be announced later.

In this first show without Bing in the studio, although he'll be in the listening audience, a "chain" interview will be one of the features of the program. Bob Burns will interview Mary McCormick who, like Bob, is a native of Arkansas. Their birthplaces were just 140 miles apart.

Miss McCormick in turn will interview a male picture star, yet to be selected, and he will fire questions at Merle Oberon. The glamorous Miss Oberon has decided to quiz Jimmy Dorsey about "swing" and other aspects of current music. Incidentally she's quite an authority on melody and harmony, having one of the largest collections of phonograph recordings in Hollywood.

ROMANCE OF WHEEL

"Romance of the Wheel," a dramatization of the history and development of the wheel, written by WTAM's program director, Tom Lewis, will provide variety on Ray Perkins' "Stars Over the Great Lakes" series Monday from WTAM at 9:30 p. m.

Carl Deis, NBC songbird, leaves the New York studios to join Perkins on the same broadcast. Cleveland's "Buccaneers," winners of the Paul Whiteman honors, will be on the program for a week, beginning on the Monday broadcast.

John Simon, recognized by the late Frank Philip Sousa as the world's foremost cornetist, and celebrated band leader, headlines the guest star for the Wednesday night broadcast over WTAM and WLW at 10:15 p. m. Charles Catlow, RKO singer appearing at Keith's Palace in Cleveland, and the Buccaneers also broadcast.

SCHOOL OF AIR

A series of weekly programs from the Great Lakes Exposition in Cleveland, to be presented by the Ohio School of the Air, will be heard from 3 to 3:30 p. m.

EST. Saturdays over 500,000-watt WLW and the Mutual network. Conducted by Ben H. Darrow, director of the Ohio School of the Air, the programs will feature the famous "RadioLand" band and the dramatized history of various exhibits at the exposition. This series, which will be conducted by Ohio school teachers, will extend through October 10.

MARKING EXPERIMENT POPULAR WITH MOTORISTS

MAYOR PLEASSED BY RESULTS OF NEW REGULATION

Receives Only One Complaint and Reports General Approval In County

LITTLE DOUBLE PARKING

Inquiring Reporter Tells of Interviews With City Visitors

"We had less trouble with traffic Saturday than at any time since I have been in office," Mayor W. J. Graham announced Monday after checking results of the two-hour parking regulation he put in force Saturday morning.

"I believe the regulation will solve our problem," the mayor said. "I have received many compliments and only one complaint, that coming from a business man."

All information obtained by the police department and mayor on the new regulation will be presented at the next regular meeting of councilmen.

Police kept a close check on downtown streets from Saturday noon until 10 p. m. Chalk marks were placed on tires to establish the time cars had been parked. Throughout the afternoon there were many parking spaces in the two-hour zone.

"Chiseling" Practiced

During the evening many motorists "chiseled" on officers, rubbing the chalk marks from their tires so they could spend more time in the restricted zone.

Patrolman Alva Shasteen, who directed traffic on W. Main street, reported there was very little double parking in that district.

Police reported two unusual cases to the mayor on local residents. One resident made it a practice to park his car uptown either Friday night or early Saturday morning so his wife could use it to "watch the crowds."

Another used the same plan, bringing his car uptown on Saturday morning.

Interviews Reported

A representative of The Herald questioned 15 men Saturday night in the downtown district for their opinions on the regulation. They were selected at random. Each was asked "What do you think of the regulation?" Twelve of the fifteen favored the regulation and three were opposed.

Following are their answers: Joe Anderson, Pickaway township—"I'll take my hat off to the mayor. I think it's fine. Tonight I could have parked in the two-hour zone, but I didn't. I'm not used to it."

Roscoe Wallace, Muhlenberg township—"It's all right if they enforce it. If they don't they might just as well throw it in the gutter. I never get to park uptown. I can't even get through most of the time."

Harry Montelius, Pickaway township—"I think it's a good thing. It gives everyone an equal opportunity. We all get a fair shot now. This idea of driving business out of town is all hokey."

Plan Favored

Floyd Kent, Whisler—"I come here every Saturday night but I never park uptown. I think it's all right. It makes them keep moving and give other fellows a chance."

Roy Catner, Kingston, Route 2, Ross county—"I think it's good. I come here about every Saturday night. They must enforce it. They have it in Chillicothe."

Charles Ward, Jackson township—"I think it's a good thing. I always have to park my car way out and didn't try to park it uptown tonight. At least it will get rid of these city cars."

D. E. Brinker, Walnut township—"It's all right. I'm parked way out on Court street tonight. This parking has kept me from dealing more in Circleville. It will help."

"No Benefit"

Bernard Young, Pickaway township—"I don't know who it's going to benefit. It's not going to benefit me. I have to park way out and walk in."

Charles Rittinger, Washington township—"I think it's all right. It gives us a chance. I generally come in about 8 o'clock and two hours is long enough."

W. I. Spangler, Tarrinton—"I favor the plan. Two hours is long enough. It prevents people from coming in and sitting in cars. I know people in Tarrinton who come in just to sit in their cars and do no buying here. We generally have to double park or pack or purchase."

Charles Miller, Kingston—"It's all right. It stops people from parking their cars in here and keeping other people who really want to buy. We do a lot of business here and I'm parked here the whole time tonight."

Charles Carter, Deercreek township—"I think it's all right. It gives us a chance. I generally come in about 8 o'clock and two hours is long enough."

Mainly About People

ONE MINUTE PULPIT

He heareth up riches, and knoweth not who shall gather them.—Psalm 39:6.

Mrs. Rebecca Orr, who has been residing on E. Mount street, moved into her newly constructed home on Pinckney street, Monday.

Leslie Pontius, postoffice employee, and Floyd Bartley, Pickaway township, botanists, returned Saturday night from a 1,700-mile trip through Virginia, Tennessee, North Carolina and South Carolina. They returned with numerous specimens of wild flowers collected in the various states.

The Circleville Gun club will hold a trapshoot next Saturday, beginning at 1 p. m. on the club grounds north of the city. Cash prizes will be given.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Sisson, Circleville, Route 1, announce the birth of a daughter, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mason, Pleasant street, announce the birth of a daughter, Sunday morning, at Berger hospital.

Miss Lydia Given, E. Main street, leaves September 1, to enter nurses training at Mt. Carmel hospital, Columbus.

George Barnes, deputy clerk of courts, was on the sick list Monday.

Fred Tipton, assistant county auditor, was back on duty Monday after a week's vacation several days of which were spent at the Cleveland exposition.

Police installed a sign at E. Ohio street and Renick avenue, Sunday, prohibiting U turns near the entrance to the Mount of Praise. Three officers were on duty Sunday directing traffic at the Mount of Praise.

Nelson Bixley, Lancaster, Route 3, told police his Chevrolet, caught, parked on E. High street, was stolen Sunday night. The car is painted dark green and bore license W-7086.

The Darbyville baseball team defeated New Holland 8 to 7 Sunday in an 11-inning game at New Holland. Darbyville plays Ashville next Sunday at Ashville.

Glen Geib, editor of The Circleville Herald, underwent an operation Monday morning in Berger hospital.

Ship—"I believe it will be all right. I wish I owned a vacant lot here. It's a big problem. It might be even better if it was one hour."

Ray Bowman, Washington township—"I've been hunting every Saturday night for a place to park. Tonight I found one as quick as I got to town. I think it will be all right." Two other men talking with Mr. Bowman favored the new regulation.

Orren Updyke, Circleville township—"I think little of it. There are people who meet relatives in town they haven't seen all week. They visit in parked cars. We always get our groceries in the morning."

Ollie Garrett, Jackson township—"It's nothing but a nuisance. I'm going to do my dealing at Robtown hereafter or go someplace else. We ought to all just stay right here and then all march up to the police station."

RAY DONALDSON DIES AT HOME IN ASHVILLE

Ray Donaldson, 31, died at his home in Ashville Sunday at 1 p. m. after a lengthy illness. He is survived by a widow, who was Miss Pansy Pettibone, and a daughter, Sarah Ellen. Of his immediate family, his father Richard Donaldson, four brothers and three sisters also survive.

Funeral services will be held at the home Tuesday at 10 a. m. with burial in Harrison-twp cemetery.

PICKAWAY SCHOOL BOARD EMPLOYS MISS MARSHALL

Miss Opal Marshall, of Ada, was employed Saturday evening by the Pickaway township Board of Education as instructor in home economics, French and Latin.

The employment of Miss Marshall completes the school's teaching staff.

OHIO FARM BUREAU BUYS EIGHT STORY BUILDING

COLUMBUS, Aug. 24.—(UP)—The Ohio Farm Bureau today announced the purchase of the eight story Pure Oil building here.

JAILED FOR INTOXICATION

Three city residents, Marshall Shisler, 23, W. Main street, Harold Rambo, 20, Clinton street, and "Babe" Bass, 58, Huston street, were lodged in the city jail over the weekend-end for intoxication. All were released.

POLITICAL POT AT HOT STAGE

some hint of New Deal popularity in the Democratic south.

Harrison in Fight

Sen. Pat Harrison is engaged in an acrid political feud with his colleague, Sen. Theo. Bilbo, in Mississippi. Bilbo, also a Democrat is supporting former Gov. Sennett Connor for the Democratic senatorial nomination in opposition to Harrison.

Sen. James F. Byrnes has based his campaign for Democratic renomination in North Carolina on a strong defense of the New Deal. His opposition, however, is not regarded as strong as that of Harrison.

Two week-end developments of significance in shaping-up of the national campaign were the death of Gov. Floyd B. Olson, of Minnesota, and the declaration of Sen. James Couzens, R., Mich., that he would support President Roosevelt for re-election.

Counted on Olson

Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley had courted Gov. Olson to off-set the appeal of Rep. William Lemke, Union Party presidential candidate, in the farm belt. Olson was the nation's only Farmer-Labor governor.

Couzens' announcement heartened Democrats who hope to place Michigan's 19 electoral votes in President Roosevelt's column. Couzens is seeking renomination in the Republican primary. He is opposed by former Gov. Wilbur M. Tucker.

In Washington several charges and denunciations added heat to the campaign. These included:

The Republican national committee charged that high-ranking works progress administration officials in Ohio, between July 1, 1935, and July 1, 1936, "raided the federal treasury and voted themselves three general increases in salary... while WPA relief workers were laboring at pittance wages to keep from starving."

New Deal Rapped

The American Liberty League, in a pamphlet analyzing bureaucracy under the New Deal, said the administration has added 260,772 jobs to the federal payroll "in cynical disregard" of its 1932 campaign platform.

The League charged the administration with "efforts to impair or destroy the merit system in civil service," with a "return to the spoils system," and with "bureaucratic irresponsibility."

Maj. George L. Berry, president of labor's Non-Partisan League, said six state league chairmen reported Mr. Roosevelt's re-election was assured, with New York, Michigan, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Ohio and New Jersey, "definitely in the Democratic column."

U. S. SPENDING TOO MUCH CASH

which said its members earn $5,000 a year or less, and that they are the folk who pay the bulk of federal taxes.

Now we earn $5,000 a year, or less, and we'd sort of like to have a look at a membership application blank, but would the legionnaires send us one. No sir. They're too secret. They didn't even include their address or their phone number nor the name of the president of their lodge when they handed us their dodger.

They said this: "We are a secret organization with local units in every congressional district and intend to work secretly to the discomfort of politicians who say one thing to get the votes and then do otherwise, and then try to cover up by vicious investigations."

Reforms Demanded

They demanded that the next congress make seven reforms, from A to G, and make them without any political racketeering.

First off they want the government to fire exactly half of its civil employees. That'd save a lot of money right there. Since they themselves earn $5,000 or less a year and work as hard if not harder than any congressman, they want the latter's wages also reduced to $5,000 per annum. That sounds fair enough.

The Legion figures likewise that they're too many army and navy officers strutting around in gold braid and eating tenderloin steaks. They'd fire half of these handsome fellows and reduce the pay of the remainder by 25 per cent. Then maybe they'd wear shiny pants and eat hamburger, like the legionnaires.

All retired officers would have their pensions slashed 50 per cent if the Legion had its way. President Roosevelt's pay would be cut $18,000 a year.

The only expanding the Legion would do would be in the national guard and the officers reserve corps. These organizations would be as big as necessary, because their members don't get paid except when actually working, digging trenches and sniping at the enemy.

DAVEY-LEGION BATTLE SETTLED AT PORTSMOUTH

PORTSMOUTH, Aug. 24.—(UP)—A year-long battle between Gov. Martin L. Davey and the American Legion over the capability of the management of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans home at Xenia, had been settled here today as the first significant phase of the organization's 18th annual state convention.

The Xenia home, maintained by the Legion with assistance from the state, became a point of contention between the Legion and the Davey administration last year when a committee of investigation appointed by the governor charged the institution was mismanaged.

Davey drew his truce with the Legion yesterday when he addressed the opening convention session and revealed he would appoint Milt D. Campbell, Cincinnati, state commander of the Legion to another five year term on the board of trustees of the home.

The re-appointment of Campbell, Legion heads said, was a vindication of their management of the Xenia home.

SEWAGE PLANT FATE HINGES ON LANCASTER VOTE

LANCASTER, Aug. 24.—City councilmen will order the sewage disposal plant proposal placed on the November ballot at their regular meeting Monday night.

At a recent special meeting they agreed to finance the plant on a 50-50 basis, half to be met with a bond issue and the other half through a service charge.

Lancaster's share amounts to $210,000 under present estimates. The total cost is estimated at $355,000 with WPA furnishing $145,000.

BOY ACCIDENTALLY HANGED

MARION, O., Aug. 24.—(UP)—Gerald Leatherman, 14, was hanged accidentally in a tree near the Marion cemetery. The boy had gone to the cemetery with an older brother to visit the grave of his father. He fell from a tree and became entangled in a clothesline he carried.

union and negotiate with it in the 43 states where it claims members.

David Lasser, Alliance president, signed the presidential letter. He said his proposals were "designed to improve the wage and living conditions of the 20,000,000 Americans on WPA and on relief in this country."

Current estimates place the number of needy persons receiving federal work-aid and local direct relief at about 15,700,000. The number is expected to increase to 18,000,000 and possibly 20,000,000 this winter because of the acute drought in the great plains area.

"The proposals we make are," Lasser said, "in our opinion and that of the American Federation of Labor, modest and even their realization will fall short of giving a decent standard of living to the fifth of our population represented by the unemployed and their families."

"Putting these proposals into effect by your administration will only alleviate some of the worst horrors of the position of the unemployed."
